New York, NY, April 7, 2017 – Laura Ingraham's new book Billionaire at the Barricades: The Populist Revolution from Reagan to Trump was announced today as the first major acquisition by Adam Bellow at All Points Books, the new political and current affairs imprint at St. Martin's Press. Ingraham, one of the most influential conservative voices in America today, traces the rise of the populist movement from Ronald Reagan to Donald Trump, from her first-hand perspective.

Among the questions she addresses is whether President Trump's agenda will clear the barricades before him—the bipartisan political establishment, the media and the special interests that plague Washington—or be blocked by them. She warns that it would be calamitous for the country and for the president's chance for reelection, if he jettisoned the populist ideals that were vital to his victory.

In Billionaire at the Barricades, Ingraham details how Trump remade the Reagan Revolution in his own image, attracting a new coalition of voters who were angry and disgusted with the corporatist agenda of GOP elites. With an insider's access and knowledge, Ingraham reveals previously unreported details behind Trump's victory and the possible pitfalls that lay ahead for his ambitious populist agenda.

"Unlike so many of my colleagues in the media," said Ingraham, "I instantly understood Trump's appeal and ignored those who repeatedly wrote his political obituary. Most of his critics and naysayers still don't understand the bipartisan appeal of the populist, pro-life, pro-growth, America First agenda on which he ran. In Billionaire at the Barricades, I take readers behind the scenes at the defining moments of a populist movement that began decades ago and map out where I think it should (and will) take us, whether fully realized by this Administration—or not."

All Points Books editorial director Adam Bellow adds, “I’m thrilled to be launching All Points with a major new book by Laura Ingraham—her first in several years. Laura has tremendous credibility and was way ahead of the pack in seeing that Trump could win the nomination and the presidency. Her insights into the twilight struggle between this growing populist insurgency and the Washington establishment derive from long experience on the barricades herself. That makes Billionaire at the Barricades not just the story of the populist movement and Donald Trump, but her own story as well.”

Laura Ingraham is the author of several New York Times bestsellers, including The Obama Diaries, Power to the People, Shut Up & Sing, and Of Thee I Zing. She is the editor-in-chief and co-founder of LifeZette, a multi-media website focusing on politics, parenting, pop culture and faith. The Laura Ingraham Show is heard coast-to-coast on 225 radio stations. She is a regular and influential voice on Fox News. A mother of three and a cancer survivor, Ingraham resides in Washington, DC.

Adam Bellow joined St. Martin’s Press in October 2016 to launch All Points Books, a new imprint that will publish books from all sides of the political spectrum and across a range of issues. Previously he was editorial director of Broadside Books, an imprint of Harper Collins. He has also been editorial director of the Free Press/Simon & Schuster and executive editor-at-large at Doubleday/Random House.
