

Message from Bob Miller: Amy Einhorn

I'm pleased to announce Amy Einhorn's promotion to Executive Vice President and Publisher of Flatiron Books.

Amy has been critical to our growth and early successes, bringing her years of experience and her clear-eyed vision to every aspect of our publishing process, from hiring staff to selecting titles to publishing those titles as thoroughly and passionately as possible.

Amy has a keen editorial eye and her titles have been a crucial part of Flatiron's success: #1 bestsellers such as Liane Moriarty's Truly, Madly Guilty and Jenny Lawson's Furiously Happy; acclaimed novels such as Shobha Rao's Girls Burn Brighter; and non-fiction such as the upcoming highly anticipated book, James Comey's A Higher Loyalty.

As a publisher, she put together a talented editorial group that has built Flatiron's fiction list in both adult and young adult to include numerous bestsellers. In Amy's new position, all of editorial, both fiction and nonfiction, will report to Amy.

Please join me in congratulating Amy on this well-deserved promotion.
